HOW THEY POP THE QUESTION.

The sailor says, "I like your girl; And though I've got a wife, I still like your girl, old girl." As true a craft as any.

And if you'll be a good girl, There's every kind of weather, just blot my blathers if we don't Go crusing on together."

The puritanical game, You're not a sinner, say, "Tis thus, sweet lady, that you shun Our mortals from afar.

But all the world is hope—

Though foolish, I must own—

That in some modest, virtuous cot You'll leave your feet."

The puritanical game, "I'm not a sinner, say—

Though I'm not of mating, And scales some lovely widow.

Madame, so heart is in hea—

You loves little beds, And little beds, so little—

And little beds, I loves your feet."

The sailor quotes from many plays, And swears by all the powers, His bark is bark, his whale is whale.

A cut among the flowers, Without her soul, he's ever like a cut.

The ever merry chamberlain, With dusky pearl and tassel.

He's a boy of money,

With a knot, and a knot,

If you'll say yes, me, honey."

Personal and Literary.

The reported income of Dr. J. G. Holland, ("Timothy Ticonic") is $20,000.

COL. CONGER, testifies that some of the leaves were out of Booth's diary when he got it.

TOPPER has written a third series of his "Proverbial Philosophy," which will appear in May.

IR MARVEL is bringing out a new book at Seelye's, "Rural Studies," illustrating himself.

THE VIZIER of Egypt is the richest man in the world. He owns a fourth of the entire soil of the country.

THE CZAR is to be accompanied to Paris early in June by Gortschakoff. The Palace of the Tuilleries on Elysee has been offered him for a residence. He chose the latter.

SENATOR SUMNER has contracted for the construction, this summer, of an elegant new house on Lafayette Square, at a cost of $30,000.

BISMARCK and Minister Motley roamed for several hours at a German university, and taught the young men the language of their native country.

YOUNG BEXHORN, the managing editor of the New York Herold, has issued orders that no reporter shall use the stairs by which his mightiness ascends to the editorial rooms.

OUR DUTCH AMBASSY, the Petroleum King of the Rhine, Kuhn, returned an income of $30,000 last year. This is the largest individual income returned in Venango county.

A. T. STEWART & CO., of New York, offer a sum of their ready dry goods imports at an amount which shows that day and night meet the present market to date less later in the season.

CHARLES READE is actually going on with his suit against the Round Table for its criticism on "Griffith Gaunt." We are afraid that the author of Charles looks as good as Griffith when he gets through with him.

SENATOR ALEX. G. CANTRELL, of New Jersey, has been presented by a number of citizens of Philadelphia with a solid silver service, valued at $6,000, in appreciation of his services in securing the passage through Congress of the League Island bill.

MRI. GEORGE PEABODY has left the portait of Queen Victoria, recently presented to him by the Queen herself, in the hands of the Mayor and prominent citizens of Philadelphia, to place on exhibition for the purpose of raising funds for charitable purposes.

A WRITER who used to set type in the New York Graphic and Standard and western, with somebody, wondered that Horace Greeley could be willing to let his name go down to posterity affixed to Jeff, Davis' ball-bonds. Horace knows (he says) that posterity can't read the signature.

MR. STEWART has now reported an income of $10,000,000, while his expenses only $7,000,000. Mr. William E. Dodge, when Radical Congressman from this District last year, returned $242,500, while this year the iron business, without politics, compels him to return only $17,750.

MR. GREELEY's visit to Richmond will be considered a bad failure. Davis was the first to pay a visit to the city for thirty-one years. In 1838 he passed through Richmond on his way to Warren, N. C., for the purpose of being united in marriage with a lady, a schoolmistress, then in the North, and still in teaching in that place. He was married by a Richmond clergymen, and on Sunday, May 12th, Mr. Greeley heard this clergyman preach in Richmond, and renewed an acquaintance begun many years ago.

GEORGE FRANCIS TRAIS tells how he and his wife are getting a hotel. While a large number of gentlemen were dining at the Herndon, the gale blew out a pane of glass. The gale was afraid to those afraid of the draft. What was to be done? The gale, big enough to put in a pane of glass—no, pillow at hand; the gale too fierce to take up the curtain, and all the while the guests taking cold. Trais was equal to it; he gave one of his Stevens ten-cent coins a minute, and with his hand to the gale.

The effect was electric; the wind was stopped, the guests were happy, the negro delighted. Let the success was not appreciated by the steward; he objected, said the wind was wanted, etc.

The observation, however, was not appreciated, got mad, said he would build a new hotel in sixty days; bought the land that night; dug the cellar next morning, and fifty carpenters were at work the day following. This is the history of the Great Hotel in the Pacific, and illustrates the proverb that it is an ill wind that blows nobody any good.

Domestic Paragraphs.

Several of the refiners on Oil Creek are still in business.

—A New York ferry company have on hand 75,000 one-cent pieces.

—There are fifteen new oil wells going down in the vicinity of Pittsfield.

—Pining for cruelty to animals is becoming quite common in New York city.

—A Vickshire paper says: "Ristori is a sublimely stupid pedantic tragedist."

—They charge $14 a day for board in a Columbia town, and $20 for board and lodging.

—A broadside gun carriage worked by steam has been adopted by the Ordnance Bureau of the navy.

—There were 11,623 births, 4,978 marriages, 1,404 divorces, and 7,929 deaths in Connecticut last year.

—The New York street cars carried 93,757,682 passengers in 1896, an increase of 11,625,659 over the previous year.

—The Oswego (N. Y.) starch manufacturer employs 2,500 operatives, and will produce 12,000,000 pounds of starch this year.

—A widow in Erie, Pa., advertises a "grand hop," with which to procure funds to defray the expenses of burying her husband.

—Mrs. James Cox, residing in Chicago, presented her husband on the 12th with a male May-bower weighing only seventeen pounds.

—The largest woman in Maine is Miss Sylvia Hardy, of Wilton, who is seven feet high and weighs three hundred and fifty pounds.

—Four thousand eight hundred and twenty-six steamer passengers have arrived at New York since the 1st inst., from European ports.

—The ladies promise that if they are allowed to vote they will elect their candidates by "handsome" as well as "sweeping."

—Temperance has promising children, but Drunkenness has a lonely family; we have seen among his sons, Del, Dishonor, Disease and Death.

—A Cleveland paper says there is a man in that neighborhood so mean that he sits on the doorsteps of the church Sunday to save the tithes.

—Firecrackers are tabooed. A little boy, six years old, burned some of the other day in Chicago, and was fined two dollars for it. Other little boys will take warning.

—In Lowell, the other night, two rival traders in leather stores open and goods hanging out all night, were having a running duel, not to close until the other closed.

—The Fairbanks, the original inventors of platform scales, although no longer protected by patents, melt up in their manufacture over thirteen tons of iron per day.

—The richest member of the Connecticut Senate is said to be an Irishman who bought a farm in Pennsylvania for $2,500 just before the petroleum excitement began. His is said to be worth $25,000,000.

—The meanest man we have heard of is the one at Northampton, Mass., who sold his horse to the other for $20 for the board of himself and wife during a visit which they paid him three years ago, when first married.

—A farmer in Saratoga County, N. Y., has filled a barrel containing one hundred and forty-five pounds of sugar with his feet, for which he offered to sell $25 to the board of himself and wife during a visit which they paid him three years ago, when first married.

—At a fashionable wedding at Norfolk, Va., last week, the bridal presents were valued at $10,000. Among them were a $5,000 roll of greenbacks, two sets of diamonds, a camel's hair shawl and large quantity of gold.

—The Independent, referring to the fall in rents in Broadway and other large business streets of New York, says the owner of a second story, who last year received $9,000, but for the next asked $13,000, has been glad to take $5,000.

—A young lady has just drawn $93,16 from the cars, and heads it, "Born at Thirty Miles an Hour." If that you isn't fast it won't be because he hadn't a good start.

—The body of Louis Fox, the brilliant player who mysteriously disappeared in December last, was found floating in the Genesee river at Charlotte, seven miles from Rochester.

—The mother of Samuel Case, the man who was hung in Cincinnati, recently, for the murder of James Hughes, died two weeks after consumption. Her death was greatly hastened by the execution of her son.

—A resident of New Albany, Ind., applied for a divorce on the 31st instant, on the ground of infidelity and incurable propensity to steal on the part of his wife.

—The soap and candle factory of Messrs. James S. Kirk & Co., of Chicago was destroyed by fire on the 18th. The total loss is estimated at $10,000,000, on which there is an insurance of $6,000,000, in various American and Western companies.

—A nice old gentleman of seventy-three was to be married recently in Springfield, Mass., but the lady failed to arrive from Wisconsin on the day appointed. A second day was fixed, and a second time was he disappointed, and the bride appeared. The bridegroom, in a delightful state of palpitation almost flew to the clergyman, but found he was absent from the city. However, in the evening the clerical gentleman returned, and, after a few words with their respective dispensers, were duly made "one flesh."

—The bride is forty-seven.

—The other day a got into the shop of General Singleton, near Quincy, Ill., and destroyed four hundred dollars worth of his valuable South Down sheep. With hydrophobia and sheep killing, dogs are probably generally becoming a nuisance.

—F. D. Dodge, of the Great Northern, was engaged along off a lot of boards, when his foot accidentally became entangled, and brought him in contact with the sun, which run the length of his leg. He did not long survive.

—A little daughter of sheriff Disaway of Bethlehem, Penn., during school hours complained of a sudden pain in her eyes, and was permitted to return home. She had only gone about five hundred yards before she became totally blind, and all efforts to restore her sight have proved fruitless.

—The dry goods dealers at New York have not all succeeded in their haste to be rich during the last year, if their returns of income be correct. Henry B. Claffin, whose income in 1895 was $2,000,000, returns only $700,000. Mr. William E. Dodge, when Radical Congressman from this District last year, returned $242,500, while this year the iron business, without politics, compels him to return only $17,750.

—A WRITER who used to set type in the New York Graphic and Standard and western, with somebody, wondered that Horace Greeley could be willing to let his name go down to posterity affixed to Jeff, Davis' ball-bonds. Horace knows (he says) that posterity can't read the signature.

—A man in Montgomery, Vermont, lost his wife by death on the 15th of March, and on the 1st of April married again. After the notice of the marriage in the local paper, he had the suggestive saying appended: "Procrastination is the thief of time."

—Dry goods dealers have for a long time used lay figures to display their wares, but it was reserved for a Boston undertaker to exhibit an imitation corpse laid out in a coffin as a means of showing the dead and taste of the funeral upholsterer.

—A countryman sold an old stove in Worcester, Mass., a short time since, and, on returning home learned that his daughter had placed in the stove over a box containing $200, and all his deeds and valuable papers. He called upon the undertaker, and, in a fit of rage, said, "I am a fool, and, I am a fool."

—The Buffalo Commercial tells the story of a man from the country who called at a hardware store in that city, and after being shown a large assortment of scissors, turned to the clerk, and, in a fit of anger, said, "I am a fool, and, I am a fool."

—The Taunton Cassette says that a valuable horse belonging to a baker in Dighton was lately killed in a singular manner. A boy who had been playing with a hool in the street, and the horse stepping on the blade, the handle flew up with such force that he was killed.

—The extent of the oil product is thus stated. During the past six years there have been sunk, up to January 1, 1897, 7,830 wells in the United States, and there has been produced a total of crude oil equal to about 11,640,670 barrels, which would make a large ball of fire. When he reached the store where he is employed, and, whether he directed his steps as soon as he recovered sufficiently, he jocosely asked them if they had any news for him. They said he was to be married to a tattered garments, and he for the first time realized what an escape he had been from.

—The Hickman (Ky.) Courier tells a story of a lad who was sent to a school for the first time. The boy was very fond of the school, and, for the first six weeks, was the most popular boy in the class.

—The Hickman (Ky.) Courier says that the enemy tax while men sleep?" Could we trace the history of a large class of vices, we should find that they originated from the want of employment, and are brought in to supply its place.

—The Hickman (Ky.) Courier says that a woman who was drowned in Fall River, in February, had a dream lately, that the drowned man came to him and told where his body could be found. So strongly was he impressed by the vision that he followed its direction in the hope of finding his body.

—A writer in the London Field says that the custom of ladies hunting on horseback is a dangerous one.

—Coral jewelry is more and more popular novelties of its class in Paris. The rose pink variety is most esteemed, and is worth twenty times its weight in gold.

—St. Petersburg has gone wild over a French dancer, which creates great amusement among Parisian circles, where the real dancer met with no favor at all.

—The rebel prime minister of Alabama lies where she was sunk in the Kearsarge, in fifty feet of water, off Cherbourg, and the French Government has refused application to raise her.

—A firm of dressers of furs, of which the partners are brothers, have been engaged to make a large number of coats and hats.

A LOST CHORD.

Scared one day at the organ, What was weary and ill at ease, And I struck the grand piano keys.

Over the grand a crescendo.

I needed the crimson twilight, Like the close of an angel's year, And it lay on my reverent spirit With a hush that was death-like calm.

It quivered piano and forte,

Like love overcoming strife;

It was the grand of a crescendo.

It filled all perplexed meanings

Into one perfect peace,

And troubled and lost silence

Was with the peace.

I have sought but I seek it vainly,

That one lost chord divine,

That came from the soul of the organ,

And entered my spirit.

It was the grand of a crescendo,

It filled all perplexed meanings

Into one perfect peace,

And troubled and lost silence

Was with the peace.

It was the grand of a crescendo,

It filled all perplexed meanings

Into one perfect peace,

And troubled and lost silence

Was with the peace.

The case went up and down in the courts, and finally got into the Supreme Court, and has been decided in favor of Wooster for $5,000 for his client.

AN INVITATION to address a great temperance mass meeting at Des Moines, Iowa, on the Fourth of July, George Francis Train, Jr., "When you knock at the door of the drunkards, you will find the door of the drunkards in front of us, blunder and stagger, your mission is God-like. When physicians stop giving whisky and alcohol medicines to their patients; when editors practice temperance as well as temperance; when preachers stop the practice of giving wine to pledged temperance men at the sacraments; when temperance becomes as fashionable as drunkenness, then, sir, water will be at a premium. Inglethorn, yes—Sincerely—

"GEO. FRANCIS TRAIN."

JUDGE UNDERWOOD, at a meeting in Richmond, on the 14th ult., stated a fact that is well circulating for the encouragement of all temperance preachers to acts of benevolence. He said that some thirty years ago, while living in the interior of New York, he received a letter from Gerrit Smith, inclosing a sum of money—$300, which—when he was asked to distribute, he gave to a man most needy of the deserving poor, without any record being made of the sum given.

THE ST. PETER Tribune says the Trustees of the Minnesota Insane Asylum, at a meeting held May 23d, projected a building $100,000 to be erected without delay, next to the present building, for the accommodation of 50 or 60 patients. The permanent buildings will be pushed forward as working plan have secured.

RAILROAD men in California have decided to go to the mountains to prevent their filling up with snow in winter. THE FORT WAYNE Democrat tells of a beautiful, intelligent, amiable, fascinating and immensely wealthy young lady in that city, who carefully conceals the knowledge of her wealth, wears cheap clothes and looks like a pauper. She was waiting for an interesting young man to whom she will be a milliner left in Fort Wayne in three months.

INDIANAPOLIS Journal says there is a certain old gentleman in the city who now revels in the communal bliss of his sixth marriage. His last matrimonial adventure is of a late date. He has had the same attendant at each of his weddings, and would be a good match for any young man who is not to do something for her? "I will give her a home for a dwelling," said one, "I will give her a home, and she will be a good wife and a good mother." "We will put it up," said the carpenter and master. So, each doing what he could best afford, the widow soon had a comfortable house over the heads of her children, with out any expense per $1000.

A YOUNG Canadian author, E. S. Wiggin, claims to have discovered the true theory of the tides. His paper appears in the Pictorial Times. After seeing the futurity of the idea that the earth is drawn to the sun, he has made a small model of the sun and the tides, and has shown that the tides are caused by the sun's attraction.

CRISPER COMA.

Oh! she was beautiful and fair,
With stony eyes, and radiant hair,
Whose curling tendrils soft, entwined,
Enchanted the very heart and mind.

CRISPER COMA.

For: Carlisle the Hair of either Sex into Wavy and Glomy Projects or Heavy Masses of Curls.

By using this article Ladies and Gentlemen can beautify themselves a thou and fold. It is the only article in the world that will curl straight hair, not at the same time give it bend, and curls the hair. The Curls, Combs out, will curl the hair, but invigorates, beautifies and cleans it; is highly and delightfully perfumed, and is a great remedy for the hair. The Crisper Offered to the American public. The Crisper Offer will be sent to any address, sealed and postpaid for $1.

Reparator Capilli.

There are your false frizzles, your switches, your wife, destructive of comfort, and not worth a fig.
Come aged, come youthful, come ugly and fair,
And repair in our own house.

REPARATOR CAPILLI.

For restoring hair upon bald heads, (from whatever cause it may have fallen out) and forcing a growth of hair upon the face, it has no equal. It will force the beard to grow upon the hair upon bald heads in from two to three months.

A few ignorant persons have asserted that there is nothing that will force or hasten the growth of hair upon the face, but this is a false, as thousands of living witness. Just as many will say, as we will, that we have come from the ignorant. It certainly is difficult, as nine-tenths of the different "reparations" advertised for the hair and beard are entirely worthless, and will not be worth a cent.
We have large amounts in their purchase. To such as we would say, try the Reparator Capilli; it will cost you nothing unless it will grow upon the hair, and then it will be paid for itself. It is so simple, so easy, so safe, and so effective, that it is a dollar and a half, and will forward it, postpaid, together with a receipt for the money which will be returned to you on application for a call and a guarantee of satisfaction.

CONDENSED NEWS ITEMS.

Personal and Literary.
BACON has sold his Fairfield villa, and taken the dirt of Connecticut from his feet.

Mr. A. T. STEWART has been reduced from affluence to a pittance of $3,000 a day.

Mrs. LINCOLN has sold her household furniture in Chicago and intends to remove to Racine, Wis.

It is said that Mr. Gordon Bennett, Jr., of the Herald, intends to bring out a daily paper in London.

JOHN OXFORD, the dramatic critic of the London Times, has sold his house, and at the same time come into possession of two fortunes amounting to $11,000.

HORACE GROTELEY has a salary of $7,500 a year as editor of the Technic. He is so disinterested in money matters that he accepted a recent increase of salary with reluctance; and he has been manipulated by others out of most of his stock in the Technic.

BEFORE MRS. ADELINA PATTI left Paris for London, she signed with M. Bagier for next season of eight months, to commence the first of September. Up to the present time the young diva has sung only in Paris, and the receipts of her performances amount to the sum of $264,500 francs—an average of 11,350 francs ($440)—per evening.

The Rev. Mr. Abbott's glorification of Louis Napoleon has been translated into French, to the great amusement of the Paris papers all say something on the subject, and one of them, the Scie, is unequivocal enough to suggest that the reverend author be straightforward in the American department of the Exposition, and labeled "the learned ass."

PRESENT WOOLSTY, of Yale College, was before the Connecticut Legislature Committee on Divorce for some time on Friday, having been called by the committee in consequence of his peculiar fitness for the subject of divorce rights. He stated that, in his opinion, the losses of the law with regard to divorce had tended to make the legal and regard to the marriage relation loose, and there had been a great increase in the number of divorces granted for a few years, not only in Connecticut, but in every state.

With regard to the right of the State to limit the marriage relation, President Woolsey said: "The State never destroys the parental relation, nor makes it difficult for the child to destroy the marital relation, nor makes it dependent upon the mere caprice or caprice of the parties who have entered into it."

—An unusual combination of railroad interests will be taken place, by the Pennsylvania Central is to be extended "virtually" from Pittsburgh to the state line of Illinois, by way of the "Ligonier," "Long," "Ligonier," and "Ligonier." The new line is to be called "Pittsburgh, Indiana & Miss. St. Louis Railroad Company." The unconstructed gap to Peoria is about 100 miles between Ligonier and Union City, and this, it is said, will be completed by October.

—Prof. Vernerweide, in a few remarks at the meeting of an American Institute, said he is satisfied in any disease so ascribed to other causes, are in reality produced by animalculæ, and think it will not be long before the diseases will begin to show this. The "light" diseases, are probably discovered, trichinae, spirals are examples. He also thinks that cancer, and, perhaps, cholera, will soon be found to proceed from parasite life, and that with the discovery will be found the means of cure.

—The Atlantic and Pacific Telegraph Company have already over one hundred miles of line constructed, and the contractors expect to have it completed to Buffalo by August and to Chicago before winter sets in. Mr. Willmarth the President of the Company, says that more than one-half of the cost of the line will be borne by first class business men. He further says that the work, which has already commenced, will be vigorously pushed forward until the entire three thousand miles of poles and six thousand points eligible offices have already been secured, and at all points it is the design of the Board to extend its operations in the best possible condition.

—A young man at Brooklyn, whose name had not set the day, went to the church the other day to hang the hand bell, but was horrified to hear the name of another where he should have been. He thought it was his, but the Sultan says the name of the hand bell is Ali.

—Tucker's large warehouse in Charlestown, Mass., fell to the ground on the 7th. Three men were severely injured.

—Charles Mix, one of the oldest and most respectable residents of Barre, Orange county, New Jersey, came to his death last week in a singular manner. He was removing potatoes from an under to an upper bin in his cellar, and, while stooping, the bin, upper one, gave way, precipitating the accumulated weight upon him, and breaking his neck. The family were absent at the time, and he was not found until the day after the fatal occurrence. Mr. Mix had lived in the town over fifty years.

—A young woman lately arrived from Germany was seen in the woods near Yonkers, N. Y., last week, deliberately making preparations to hang herself, and when interrupted by the gentleman who saw her, she could only be persuaded to desist by his promising to take her. She was a victim to the tender passion, and was sent to a hospital.

It is stated that A. H. Stephens is much more feeble than usual.

A boy in Syracuse has been fined five dollars for jumping on and off railroad cars while in motion.

SARAH BUEL, of Litchfield, Conn., was buried a year ago on Sunday, and like the century tomb, gave a "blow out" on that occasion.

Gov. Ford, of Ohio, who signed the pledge and joined the Sons of Temperance two or three weeks ago, made his first temperance speech on the 17th. It is a speech and touching.

Barnum's residence, "The Moor," was bought, not by John Morrison, but by Wm. Reed, a wealthy New York coal dealer. Mr. Barnum has bought a house on Fifth avenue, near Fortieth street, for $100,000.

Mr. Benyon should have a little talk with the Ward Beeches, who, in his tale of Newark, says: "I never said but he has a hook with a live mouse." The trout caught the mouse, and Pote hooked both. Is that justitiously cruelty to animals?

Me-ese, an old Flathead chief, who has seen over a thousand moons, is dying, and makes it his proudest boast, that, though he has fought in over a hundred battles, he has never been wounded.

Since the close of the "Drummer Boy" of the Rappahannock" with a rich merchant's daughter, it has transpired, says an exchange, that he has been swindling the old couple, excepting that he is selling a biography of himself at $200 a copy, payment in advance, but has never delivered a single book to the subscribers.

The most intimate friend that Queen Victoria ever had was Yankie, the daughter of Mr. Bates, of Boston, the American partner of Baring, the bankers. It was directly to her influence that the kind and friendly feelings of the Queen towards the United States Government are to be traced. Queen Victoria, Yankie de Wolfe, the senior member of the diplomatic corps in London, and the Belgian Minister who recently took such a prominent part in the Luxembourg Conference.

In connection with the late Emperor of Mexico, the Boston Advertiser reminds us of the interesting historical fact that Maximilian, the most recent member of one of the most important of the reigning houses of the Old World, a house that was at the head of the Holy Roman Empire before Mexico had been heard of among Christians, and which ruled over Mexico for almost two centuries, from the time that Cortez landed for the others

A. V. (Germany) in 1521, to the death of Charles II, in 1700. We may add that we believe this circumstance gave Maximilian himself the idea that it would help to make him acceptable as a ruler for the Mexicans.

The Rev. Henry Ward Beecher says recently that while it is possible to do something to be a factor in the new Emersonian Journals of the new doctrine that "Carry out this theory and what will it not justify and contaminate?" The Dutchean who boasts that he can drink a keg of ale at a sitting, then becomes a single drop in the ocean of what is possible.

The pickpocket who embezzles a lady's wallet with his nimble fingers shows what is "duty to be done." At Nible's Garden, one of the ballet-dancers in "Black Crook" has so developed the use of her feet that she can kick off a man's hat. The Rev. Beecher advises the ladies of his congregation to emulate this "possible" achievement.

JOHN ANTRIM, of Antrim & Street, doing business C. Main street in St. Louis, has fallen heir to a very large fortune in Ireland, consisting of the Antrim estate, the property of the late Earl of Antrim, the most northern county of Ireland. It is one of the oldest families in Ireland, its genealogy being traceable back for several hundred years, and it is the wealth of the estate which is estimated at seven millions pounds sterling, or $35,000,000 in gold. Mr. Antrim comes in for the property with three others, his share being between three and four million pounds, and each has a third or fourth in lineal descent. One of the heirs lives in New Jersey, and another in Philadelphia. Mr. Antrim is about forty years of age, is a married man, residing on Garrison avenue, and is the possessor of the world's goods by this affluent addition to his resources. He formerly resided in Cairo, Illinois, and has been a citizen of St. Louis three or four years.

SHILLABER, (Mrs. Partington) who has just turned fifty-five, is described as a heavy, solid, well-made woman, a substantial man in a local way, a man of a school committee, his district, and altogether a substantial, well-to-do citizen. He is a New Hampshire man by birth, but has long been and still is, a resident of Boston, where he has a pleasant home and family circle. He has children who are mostly grown up and married. He has little or no voice for public speaking. He tells a story of the effect that an old hall at Providence, R. I., and was warned before commencing that the hall had bad acoustical qualities and that he would need to raise his voice and speak very distinctly or he could not be heard. According to his own words & ladies and gentlemen in a stonian tone: "When the echo came back," says Shillaber, "it nearly knocked me down." He immediately lowered his voice and went on in his own fashion.

The Mason Dore property in New York has been leased for ten years at $25,000 per annum, for a retail dry goods store.

Mr. Bartram has added to his collection of curiosities at his museum a "mammoth infant" said to be four years old and to weight 229 pounds.

The Salt Lake Tribune of May 29, has the following: "Correction—Instead of 'people all very busy,' in a letter from Crystal Peak, the other day, read 'people all very busy'."

The sport of racing has been resumed at the Hudson river. One night just past two Albany night-boats raced from the time of leaving the New York wharf until daylight.

The new Suspension Bridge over the East River at Harlem is finished, and the public opening will be on the tenth or twelfth day of June. At $5,000,000 of iron was used in its construction.

In obedience to a municipal ordinance for the arrest of street musicians, in Philadelphia, a hand organ was taken before the Mayor of the city. He was searched, as usual, and in a belt about his person he had in Treasury bills the sum of $5,000.

The renowned Framont estate Marissa, has for some time been lying perfectly still. Not a mine on the grant is being worked, the shafts are filled with water the machinery rusted, and everything apparently in rapid decay in consequence of the operations of the late Superintendent.

A case of sharp practice occurred lately. A couple waited on a clergyman to be married, for whose services the bridegroom gave him a hundred dollars and the gentleman's wife was to be passed out through the hall. They have made a good beginning and will doubtless get along in the world.

DULL & GOWAN, the Chicago contractors of the Hoosac tunnel, Massachusetts, will immediately begin a forced two hundred men, so that the work will not stop night or day. They will also be string two shafts, be able to work at six faces, thus very materially hurrying its completion.

Fort Pitt Foundry for the Union Pacific, passed through New York a week or two since, accompanied by 100 balls of 1,000 lbs. each. The monster is twenty and a half feet long, twenty inches in the bore, and five and a half feet in diameter at the breech.

The glory has departed from Bonner's and Vanderbilts' famous teams. Mr. Harrington's show boys, Brunetto and Bruno, on the Fashion course, Tuesday, June 17th, made the extraordinary time of 2:35½, thus beating Bonner's team. Flatbush Maid and Lady Palmer, by three-quarters of a second, the quarter mile was made in 30½ seconds, the half in 1:11½, the three-quarters in 1:47 and the mile in 2:20½.

The new postal car delivery system is now in successful operation on the railroads to Lake Nyssa, left England on the 10th of June. Sir R. Murchison has every hope that the system will be a success, and the road will follow up his discoveries.

Two Protestant missionaries have just made a tour of from two thousand to three thousand miles in the interior of China, and report that the road is not safe, night posts are not to be had, and the mail bags have to be carried on the backs of the porters.
